PORTUGAL.

LIST OF ARTICLES THE EXPORTATION OF WHICH FROM PORTUGAL AND THE ADJACENT ISLANDS IS PROHIBITED.

January 3, 1916.

NOTE.—Unless otherwise indicated, the prohibition applies not only to the exportation of the articles specified to foreign countries, but also to the re-exportation, transit, and transhipment of such articles when the consignments on arrival in Portugal or the adjacent islands are described in the manifests and bills of lading as "to order", or when there is inscribed on these documents (at the port of departure) no clear indication of the name of the consignee and of the place of destination of the goods. [5-6-15.]

Alcohol (not including spirituous beverages).
Alum.
Aluminium, alloys of aluminium, and wholly or partly manufactured wares thereof.
Ammonia sulphate.
Antimony, antimony alloys, and wholly or partly manufactured wares thereof.
Bauxite.
Beans (grao e feijao).
Beetroot and beetroot seed.
This prohibition was imposed by a law of the 9th September 1915, to last for a period of two years.
Brass wares. (See Copper.)
Cakes and cattle foods made from oilseeds.

Codfish (bacalau). (See under Foodstuffs.)
Copper and brass wares, partly or wholly manufactured.
Cotton, raw, cotton waste; linters (fios de linho ou algodao para tratamento de feridas); cotton yarns of all kinds.
Eggs.
The Portuguese Government will (it is believed) readily grant exceptions from the prohibition of the export of eggs in the case of exports to the United Kingdom. His Majesty's Minister at Lisbon will support applications for such permits, if particulars in each case are furnished to him by the exporters [12-10-15.]

* His Majesty's Minister at Madrid is informed that Australian wool is the only wool of foreign origin which is imported into Spain [8-7-15.].

† The re-exportation of these articles does not seem to have been specifically prohibited.

Fats suitable for making margarine.
Ferrochrome; ferromanganese; ferromolybdenum; ferronickel; ferrotungsten; ferrovanadium.
*Foodstuffs (except wine).

NOTE.—As an exception to this prohibition, cheese, fresh fish, dried fish, pressed fish, or fish prepared in any other way (including fish preserved in comestible oil and fish powder) and poultry are allowed to be exported. Such exportations, however, unless destined for the Portuguese oversea Provinces are only permitted subject to the payment of the respective export duties and of special surtaxes.

In addition to the general prohibition of the export of foodstuffs, Decrees have been issued specifically prohibiting the export of comestible products derived from cattle and pigs (Decree No. 1948), and of maize and rye and of other substances regarded as necessary for Portuguese consumption (Decree No. 2009).

*Fuel.
Gold, in bars or in coin.

The prohibition does not apply to gold exported or the State, or under special licences granted by the Government. Further, travellers may take with them for their personal requirements money up to 40*l.* (sterling) per person, or the equivalent in any other gold coin.

Hides and skins, green or dry, weighing less than 25 kilog.; also wholly or partly manufactured wares thereof. (See also Leather.)

Wolfram ore.
Wool (raw), washed, or waste.

NOTE.—An export supertax of 15 escudos per 100 kilogs. is levied on unwashed wool exported from Portugal.

* The re-exportation of these articles does not seem to have been specifically prohibited.

† The exportation of these articles does not seem to have been definitely prohibited, although the re-exportation, transit, and transhipment have.

‡ Licenses may be granted by the Portuguese Government for the export of tin ore to the United Kingdom, France, Italy, Spain, Netherlands (Oversea Trust), and extra European destinations. [23-6-15.]

§ The prohibition does not apply to the export and re-export of such articles from Portugal and the adjacent islands to Portuguese oversea provinces or from such oversea provinces to Portugal and the adjacent islands.
